Following the collaborative work that took place (see below), you will find here the Position Paper that was submitted to the UN.

Participative and Contribute to a collective statement to the United Nations for the Ocean! to UNOC3

As part of the United Nations Ocean Conference, an international coalition is drafting a position paper to highlight the essential role of citizens, scientists, educators, policymakers, and practitioners in leading the ocean transition.

This statement will emphasize the key issues and practical solutions related to ocean education, citizen engagement, and participatory science.

Your experience, insights, and ideas are valuable to help build a strong and meaningful message to be brought to the UN.

Please take a few minutes to respond to this short questionnaire. Your answers will directly inform the collaborative position paper, which will be shared with you for review and validation.

By filling in this form, you will be informed by email when the document is open for co-editing and comments.

The final statement will be presented orally during the UNOC side event coordinated by the NGO OSI on Thursday, June 12 in the afternoon, and submitted in writing to the UN official platform the same evening.
